DISCOVERING DARWIN

The Top End of the Northern Territory is known for its tropical weather, rich indigenous culture, national parks and laid-back lifestyle. It is home to an eclectic mix of cultures whose outdoor lifestyle is complemented by brilliant sunsets, fantastic fishing and a colourful calendar of outdoor events.

Situated on the edge of a harbour bigger than Sydney's, Darwin is a beautiful, fascinating tropical city – a melting pot of people and cultures that prides itself in its unique and friendly laid-back lifestyle. At least 50 nationalities share the cosmopolitan energy that infects Darwin, with its sunset markets, wharf side eateries and aboriginal art centres.

While a sophisticated, modern city in its own right, it is also one steeped in history, one that has endured many hardships on its way to establishing itself as the gateway to Asia. Darwin's WWII trail will amaze and inspire you, while the museums will make you want to stay longer.

General Information

Climate

The dry season is the best time for travel to Darwin. It lasts from April/May until September/October and brings beautiful weather in Darwin with clear blue skies, balmy nights and warm days. (If you look a bit closer you will find that especially the beginning and the end of the dry season can be quite hot.)

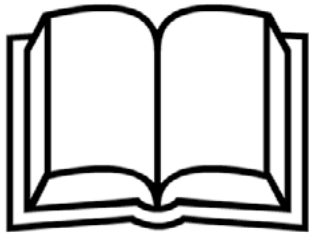

Passport and Visas

As a general guide, travellers are encouraged to apply for their Australian visa well in advance of their planned departure date. European passport holders can apply for a visa online through the Australian Government's eVisitor system. Passport holders from a range of other countries (including the United States of America) can apply for a visa online through the Australian Government's Electronic Travel Authority (ETA) system. Alternatively, passport holders outside of Australia can apply for an ETA through a travel agent, airline office, specialist service provider or Australian visa office. (NB: The eVisitor and ETA systems provide the electronic equivalent of a visa for the short-term traveller which replaces the traditional passport visa label or stamp. Most applications are processed instantly.)

Transport

Darwin International Airport is located 13 kilometers from the CBD (around a 15 minute drive). For satellite navigation devices, Darwin International Airport is located in Marrara, Northern Territory.
